NEW BRITISH SET-UP FOR MIDDLE EAST

Imperial Base Shifts From Egypt To Kenya Oil Interests Considered Safer With Port Mombasa Than Alexandria

LONDON, October 10 (Reuter): Usually reliable sources here confidently believe that the Kenya colony which is suited strategically, politically and climatically has already been decided upon as a British base and headquarters for the Middle East and that Mombasa, port for Kenya is destined to take the place of Alexandria.

It has been unofficially reported from Nairobi that a British Military Mission is at present in East Africa examining the suitability of the area for the Middle East base but the authorities are not prepared to make a statement. Over the week-end it was reported that the British Cabinet's Defence Committee and the Chiefs of Staff had discussed the proposal to withdraw Britain's main defence bases from Egypt southwards to East Africa.

IMPERIAL OIL INTERESTS
It is pointed out here that Britain's two main interests in the Middle East are safeguarding of her imperial communications system and guarding her oil interests in Persia and Iraq. Strategically, with Egypt out of question, the choice of Kenya as a new base is an obvious one. The last war showed how easily the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal route to the East can be put out of operation.

Because of that fact Britain's supplies for her Eighth Army and for India and Burma had to go round the Cape. In another war with increasing efficiency of aircraft and bombs, the Mediterranean Suez Sea route might be cut off from the start. The Cape route has no such bottle-neck as the Mediterranean route. It can be protected from bases at Gibraltar and on the West and South African coasts and would obviously come into its own again.

So far as air communications are concerned, they too could use the West-African route as far as Free Town in Sierra Leone and then go across Africa to the east. CHOICE OF MOMBASA
Mombasa is argued, would provide an adequate base with far more safety than any Mediterranean route for sea transport to the Persian Gulf. By the treaty of 1930 which does not expire until 1955, Britain has the right to maintain airfields in Iraq co-operation with Arab States would provide airfields for protection of convoys on voyage between Mombasa and Basra.

TO SUPPORT TURKEY
Though probably British garrison would be maintained in Palestine, Cyprus and Malta. It would be easier to maintain forces in defence of the oilfields from Mombasa by sea than from Palestine by land and at the same time to give support to Turkey, were that needed. So far as the political implications are involved, both military and political sources agree that with Britain withdrawing from Egypt, a base on a territory where there is no question of an indifferent or hostile local population is an advantage that advantage can be had in Kenya. From the same aspect, Kenya overcomes difficulties that might arise were Palestine chosen as the main British Middle Eastern Base.

In this connection, one of the points at issue between Britain and Egypt in the Treaty Revision negotiations has been over whether British troops should enter Egypt when there is a threat of aggression or only after an act of aggression.

At the same time, it is pointed out that the draft terms for transfer to United Nations Trusteeship of the Tanganyika territory, next door to Kenya which Britain is submitting to the United Nations provide that British remain mandatory power and shall have the right to establish bases for Defence in the territory and train and arm the local population. MIDDLE-EAST SET UP
The General set-up for the Middle East, these circles predict, is likely to be as follows: Strong outposts at Malta and Cyprus forces, though not very large, in Palestine and the main base in Kenya with Mombasa as port.

LAKE SUCCESS (New York), Oct. 10 (Reuter). It is expected in authoritative quarters here that Britain will submit for the United Nations approval the text of draft agreement for administration under United Nations Trusteeship of British Cameroons, British Togoland and Tanganyika before the General Assembly meets on October 23.

"THE HEART OF CONFLICT"
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (A.P.A.). Diplomatic circles consider Greece, Turkey and Iran as key countries in the control of the Middle East and the Eastern Mediterranean region, which one of the great conflicts between Russia and the Western powers has revolved for months. The Dardanelles geographically and strategically is at the heart of this conflict.

PARATROOPERS' CONVICTIONS QUASHED

LONDON, Oct. 10 (Reuter). The Minister of War, Mr. Frederick Belenger, today announced the quashing of convictions in the Malayan mutiny charge in which 243 British paratroopers in Malaya were re-sentenced by a Court Martial to two years' imprisonment with hard labour. Making the announcement in the House of Commons today, Mr. Belenger said that orders to this effect and for the men's release were being issued forthwith.

League Entry Into 'Interim' Govt. Assured

NEW DELHI, Oct. 10 (A.P.I.). Another busy but barren day has passed without outward evidence of any decisive advance towards a Congress-League Concordat.

Continuing his role as untiring mediator, the Nawab of Bhopal had two meetings with Mahatma Gandhi and two more with Mr. Jinnah. The Muslim League Working Committee held a two-hour session, which was a much longer one than has so far been held during the present series of meetings but presumably no decision was reached and the Committee adjourned till tomorrow evening.

Correspondence exchanged between the Congress and the League is understood to rest, at present, with a note from the Congress which has been received by the League through the Nawab of Bhopal and was considered by the League Working Committee today. What would appear to be the final Congress reply to League points is given in this Note on which the League has now to decide for itself.

Alternating hope and doubt caused by the prolongation of the negotiations have, during the last few days, followed a pattern which political circles regard as familiar in such parleys. The conviction among these circles remains undisturbed that ultimate League entry into the Interim Government is assured.

It is believed that the Prime Ministers and Ministers of Bengal and Sind are in Delhi for consultation with the League High Command on Provincial matters arising from any settlement at the Centre.

LEAGUE EXECUTIVE MEETS AND ADJOURNS

NEW DELHI, Oct. 10 (A.P.I.): The Working Committee of the All-India Muslim League met at 6-30 p.m. to-day and after two and half hours discussion adjourned till 6-30 p.m. tomorrow.

The Premiers of Bengal and Sind, Mr. H. S. Suhrawardy and Mr. Ghulam Hussain Hidayatullah attended by Sind Ministers Meet Jinnah.

NEW DELHI, Oct. 10 (A.P.I.): The Sind Premier, Mr. Ghulam Hussain Hidayatullah, and three other Ministers, Mr. A. K. Khuro, Pt. Liaquat Khan and Mirza Abbas Sattar, met Mr. Jinnah, President of the All-India Muslim League, this morning and were with him for three quarters of an hour.

It is understood that matters relating to the forthcoming general elections in Sind were discussed at the meeting.

CHIANG ORDERS CONSCRIPTION

NANKING, Oct. 10 (A.P.A.): The Chinese Military Bureau announced to-day that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had issued instructions for the resumption of military conscription throughout the country.

A report carried by the pro-Government newspaper "Tungshing Pao" said that the Generalissimo's message stressed the importance of laying the foundations of military reconstruction and strengthened national defence.

En-Lai's Latest
SHANGHAI, Oct. 10 (Reuter): The Chief Communist negotiator, Gen. Chou En Lai, has reopened the door to further peace negotiations in a formal letter to Gen. George Marshall, United States Special Envoy in China, rejecting the ten-day truce proposal but expressing willingness of the Communist party to resume discussions for the cessation of hostilities and reorganisation of Government and army if the Chinese Government will immediately call off the drive against Kalgan "indefinitely."

Chiang Re-elected President
NANKING, Oct. 10 (Reuter): Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was today re-elected President of the Republic of China by the Standing Committee at Kuomintang Central Executive Committee.

The President's legal term expired yesterday after three years' tenure of office.

FIVE-YEAR BAN ON LOHIA'S ENTRY INTO GOA

BELGAUM, Oct. 10 (A.P.I.): Details now available of Dr. Ram Manohar Lohia's release that he was brought to Goa by a Portuguese police party. The Indian Consul in Goa Mr. Kite picked up Dr. Lohia at Armode and brought him to Belgaum yesterday in his car.

The Governor-General-in-Council, Goa, has served an order on Dr. Lohia expelling him from Goa and asking him not to enter Goa for a period of five years.

Forty Injured By Acid Throwing In Dacca

One Killed In City By Stabbing But No Incident Between Mid-day And Mid-night

DACCA, October 10. (A.P.I.): Scalding by acid caused injuries to more than 40 persons yesterday and today, two dying from the effects of the burns in hospital.

The police opened fire to-day in an area to disperse hostile crowds, who were exchanging brickbats and stones. Seven persons were injured here but no injury was caused by police firing. Thirty-six persons were arrested. The police had also opened fire in this area yesterday, one person being injured.

The total casualties so far in the present disturbances, starting on August 20, are 103 killed and about 350 injured. Nine hundred persons have hitherto been arrested.

COLLECTIVE FINES
The District Magistrate of Dacca announced last night over the Dacca station of A.I.R. that he had recommended imposition of collective fines on a particular community in Narina area at four times the municipal tax paid by that community for offences in connection with the present disturbances.

4,000 REFUGEES FROM VILLAGES
Over 4,000 refugees from the affected villages in the suburbs of Dacca are now taking shelter in the 26 relief centres in the city. Of these, 3,400 are being fed by Government under the supervision of Principal S. N. Ghosh of Jagannath College. The Congress Relief Committee is running four such relief centres and is also rendering voluntary services at the Centres opened by Government.

ONE KILLED IN CITY

BOMBAY, Oct. 10: The Director of Information, Bombay, in a press note issued at midday said:—
"One person was found dead and two others have been injured by stabbing in the course of this forenoon. The scenes of the incidents are Worli and Null Bazar."

Probably the shortest 'communique' since the disturbances began in Bombay a month ago was issued to-night stating "Nothing to report between mid-day and midnight", according to Police Headquarters.

Haroon Snubbed By Molotov?

No Interview Granted But Asked To Submit Memorandum To Russian Foreign Office

(From Our Correspondent)

ALLAHABAD, October 10. Muslim League's efforts to gain Russia's sympathies do not seem to have succeeded so far as Mr. Yusuf Haroon's Mission to Paris is concerned.

On the other hand, it is stated that Mr. Haroon was indirectly snubbed by M. Molotov when he (Haroon) sought a personal interview with the Russian Foreign Minister according to some Muslim League circles.

M. Molotov did not grant any interview to Mr. Haroon, but he was seen by one of the Liaison officers of Soviet Government and asked to submit a memorandum for consideration of the Russian Foreign Office.

REVOLT AGAINST SALAZAR REGIME?

LISBON, Oct. 10. (A.P.A.): Following reports of a threatened civil and military uprising against President Salazar's New State regime, all troops, police and members of the anti-Communist legion "Legio Portuguesa", were called into their barracks about 3 o'clock this morning.

Private telephone communications were cut off, by order of the Government between Lisbon and the north and south country districts. Although no official explanation of these measures was given, it was believed they were due to the Government getting information that a civil and military uprising against the New State was to begin shortly, particularly in the northern provinces of Portugal.

PROTEST AGAINST ACTION OF UNION INDIAN CONGRESS EXECUTIVE

Resolution Of Joint Passive Resistance Council Condemns Move To Join R.T.C.

(From Our Correspondent)
DURBAN, Oct. 9. Mr. M. P. Naicker, Joint Secretary, Joint Passive Resistance Council of Transvaal and Natal Indian Congress wires:

The following resolution was passed by the Joint Passive Resistance Council of Transvaal and Natal Indian Congresses at Durban on Monday last:

"The Joint Council has further reviewed the position arising from South African Indian Congress Executive meeting on September 23, when, without reference to the Provincial Congresses, decision was taken to manoeuvre for the Round Table Conference at this stage with the 'Ghetto Act' still on the Statute Book.

"The Joint Council considers the decision as a stab in the back by a handful of South African Indian Congress officials to the resistance campaign and India in her firm stand against Union Government at the U.N.O. It condemns the action of all the members of the South African Indian Congress Executive, who supported the proposal for the Round Table Conference against wishes of the Indian people.

"Having regard to the fact that the representatives of the Indian Delegation at U.N.O. and 'Secondly, to the deplorable fact that certain of these representatives, namely, Messrs. A. I. Kaje, P. R. Father, A. C. Christopher, C. C. Palsania, and M. H. Joosub supported the aforementioned Round Table Conference proposals.

"The Joint Council from its considered review of recent developments is convinced of the incompetency of these men to represent fully the views and wishes of South African Indians and consequently has no confidence in their ability to advise correctly the Indian Delegation at U.N.O.

REAL REPRESENTATIVES

"The Joint Council expressed appreciation of firm stand taken by Mr. Sorabjee Rustonjee and in view of Mr. Sorabjee Rustonjee's and Dr. H. A. Naidoo's wholehearted support for the resistance struggle calls upon these two leaders to resign forthwith from the South African Indian Congress Delegation to U.N.O. and to proceed to America as representatives of the Joint Council.

"The Joint Council further recommends to the Natal and Transvaal Indian Congresses that immediate steps be taken to implement the stand adopted by the Joint Council."

On Agenda Of U.N.O. Security Committee

DURBAN, Oct. 10 (Reuter): Six Africans from Transvaal among 11 passive resisters were arrested last night for trespassing on Corporation land. This is the first time that Africans have taken part in the passive resistance campaign.

A Johannesburg, European Cinema Manager was among these arrested last night the remaining being Indians.

LAKE SUCCESS (New York) Oct. 10. (Reuter): India's protest against the treatment of Indians in South Africa will be discussed at the forthcoming United Nations General Assembly by the Political and Security Committee. It is item 81 on the Assembly's Provisional Agenda.

The matter is based on the Indian Government's letter of June 22 to the United Nations Secretary-General which charged that discrimination against Indians had reached a climax in the Union enactment of the Asiatic Land Tenure and Representation Act and declared that a situation had arisen likely to impair friendly relations between these countries.

Smuts On Small Nations' Role In Peace-Making

THE HAGUE, Oct. 10. (A.P.A.): Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts addressing a peace conference after his yesterday declared that he looked to the small European countries to play a big part in solving world problems.

"We look too much to the big powers," he said. "History shows that a solution often comes from the small ones."

Commenting on the peace conference, he said he was not pessimistic. "The greatest difficulties lie behind us, not ahead of us," he declared.

On the Palestine question General Smuts said he thought the point had been reached where a solution might now be possible. "The time is ripe for the foundation of a national home for the Jewish race. The only thing is to have patience," he said.

HAGANAH TO LAUNCH ALL-OUT OFFENSIVE

Anti-Terrorist Organisation To Stop Outrages

JERUSALEM, Oct. 10. (Reuter): An all-out "offensive" by the Haganah, the 8,000 strong Jewish resistance movement, against the two terrorist organisations, the Organized Jewish Lancers and the Stern Gang, is expected to break out in Jerusalem.

The Haganah has up to now confined its anti-terror drive to propaganda, but the latest outrages, in which British soldiers have been victims, are believed to have convinced its members that it is time to act.

A house curfew imposed on four Jewish districts after the wave of explosions was lifted last night in three of them—the fashionable residential quarter of Talpith settlement of Rehavia near where a British lorry was blown up and the industrial suburb of Givat Shaul where preparations for an explosion were discovered. The police are continuing intensive searches for those responsible for the explosions.

Four persons have already been detained in Jerusalem area and four others in Nathanya seaside resort between Haifa and Tel Aviv.

DEFINITELY FOR "CONNOISSEUR" British Comment On Nehru's 'Discovery'

LONDON, Oct. 9. (Reuter): Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's latest book "Discovery of India" is proving popular with discriminating readers in London. Three principal booksellers—Foyles, the largest bookstore in the world, and Bumpus, booksellers to the King, and Hatchette, one of the major distributing book companies—today gave me their views on the commercial success of Pandit Nehru's work.

"It is very popular," said Miss Christina Foyles, head of the Foyles. "It is selling very well indeed and we have quite a few orders on hand." The senior partner in the firm of Bumpus said: "There has not been an overwhelming demand for the book but there has been a steady demand for it. It is an admirable book and its range of subjects is excellent. It is a book that will be read by a discerning student of international affairs."

At the Hatchette "Reuter" was told: "We would not call it a popular book but there has been a steady demand for it. It is a very substantial book—not the sort that everyone would buy but definitely a book for the connoisseur."

Mr. Rajani Palme Dutt, reviewing Pandit Nehru's book in the Communist "Daily Worker," says: "The new move towards establishing Soviet-Indian diplomatic relations will be universally welcomed. Public opinion in this country and elsewhere will follow with the closest interest and attention how Pandit Nehru endeavours to tackle problems confronting the Indian Interim Government and its foreign policy in the present world situation."

Mr. Palme Dutt, however, adds: "European readers of the book will be surprised to learn that the communist parties have lost contact with the national sentiment of the people and weakened accordingly."

International Control On Rubber To Be Removed

LONDON, Oct. 10. (A.P.A.): The Board of Trade announced last night that all international controls over the sale of rubber would be removed effective January 1, 1947.

Member governments of the Combined Rubber Committee agreed to end the "in view of increased quantities of natural rubber becoming available for international allocation," the Board said.

The committee, the announcement added, will pass out of existence on December 31, 1946.

BEFORE THE LIGHTS CAME ON...

WHEN in the meagre light of the oil butte those at home strained their eyes trying to perform their daily tasks, when most of the city inhabitants breathed air filled with smoke and grime from coal-burning factories and locomotives, when people gaped at the modernity of horse-drawn tramcars—that was when Jamshedji Tata made the initial plans for electrical energy for industry and the home, electric trains and trams, and the manifold additional benefits electricity would bring for a cleaner, healthier Bombay. Today the Tata Hydro-Companies provide approximately one-third of all the electrical energy produced in India to supply the industries of Bombay and vicinity with electricity at rates on a par with those in any large industrial and commercial centre of the world. Tomorrow they hope to make possible still higher standards of living and more opportunities for advancement and expansion in the territory they serve.

BUSINESSMAN'S PLEA GRANTED

Can Police Keep Office Records Indefinitely?

LAHORE, Oct. 9 (A.P.I.): At the Lahore High Court, today Mr. Justice Mohamed Sheriff, in an application, gave an important ruling concerning the commercial community. His Lordship held that under Section 94 of the Cr. P. C., the police have the right to examine and seize documents they find in the course of the investigation but this was not the intention of Section 94 to bring the business of a person to a standstill and to keep the books or other papers for such time as the police might choose to.

"This might cause," added His Lordships, "an irreparable injury and by the time it is ultimately found that no case was made out the business might be irretrievably ruined. The court has the right and duty to see that power given to the police under a statute is by its exercise not made the instrument of oppression."

His Lordship directed that the police must return all the files removed from the office of the petitioner subject to their right to retain any particular document and to inspect any other file in the office of the company during office hours.

This ruling was given on an application filed by Mr. P. J. Kumar, Managing Director of the Northern Airways Limited, praying for the restoration of office records which had been removed by the police in connection with the investigation of a case.

INDO-AFGHAN TRADE TALKS

(From Our Correspondent)
NEW DELHI, Oct. 9.

The Commerce Minister of the Afghan Government has been discussing here with the Government of India difficulties experienced by his country in securing essential supplies. Agreement is believed to have been reached under which the Afghan Government will be able to purchase her short-supply goods from India in a manner which will eliminate black marketeers. The presumption is that imports into Afghanistan will be through the Government Agency. It is also presumed that only such goods in which India herself is not in short supplies will be exported to Afghanistan. Discussions, it is believed, covered the question of the manner in which payment for Afghan purchases from India should be made.

MOVEMENT CONTROL WASTE CHANCES

BOMBAY, Thursday.
In the second semi-final in the open
Western India Soccer Championship
Movement Control drew with Tata neither side scoring. For the absence of scoring on their part, the Englishmen have only themselves to blame as they wasted a number scoring chances during the evening.
Once again poor finishing was responsible for the dearth of scoring. The Tatas, already a depleted side had no marksman capable enough to take advantage of the chances offered with the result that some good passes remained unconverted.

In their defence, however, Mandon was as reliable as usual and to him in a certain measure the Tatas were able to share honours this evening.
Thingalaya was also quite reliable and performed his part whenever called upon to do so.

Ambrud and Stone amongst Movement Control were impressive forwards and while the former put in a couple of useful runs, some of Stone's passes were astute though abortive.

The teams:
Movement Control: Lsmbert, Stokes and Ooman; Mitcalfe, Robinson and Goldfinch; Gardener, Stone, Thomson
Amros and Young.

Tatas: Thingalaya; Mandon and Papan; Anantram, Krishnan and Damodar; Mani, Shetty, Govind, Menas and Peter.

Battle Over Gandhian & Marxist Philosophies

Bombay Assembly Passes Third Reading Of Industrial Relations Bill

(From Our Special Representative)

POONA, October 10.

After a debate lasting over full ten sittings, the Bombay Legislative Assembly passed both the second and third readings of the Industrial Relations Bill today.

NANDA-DANGE DUEL AGAIN

The end was marked by one more sparring contest between Mr. Guzarilal Nanda, Labour Minister, and Mr. S. A. Dange about the validity and virtues of the Gandhian doctrine of class struggle and the Gandhian theory of trusteeship. While forcefully pointing out that the methods advocated by the Communist Party would lead to anarchy and the use of brute force and involve a lot of killing and destruction, Mr. Nanda declared that if anarchy would help the workers more wages and better conditions of work and strengthen them so that they could go onwards to that better social order about which there was no difference of opinion.

Earlier in the course of the debate Labour Minister Nanda revealed that the amendment of the Factories Act was under the active consideration of the Government of India and would be one of the subjects to be discussed at the forthcoming Conference of Labour Ministers at Delhi. He also revealed that the question of Social Insurance, such as sickness and old age benefits, was on the agenda of the Conference.

DANGE'S AMENDMENTS

This question arose in relation to a series of amendments sponsored by Mr. S. A. Dange to a Bill, listing matters that could be considered by the Labour Courts. Among other things, he wanted sickness, old age benefit or insurance to be included in the subjects that could be raised before the Labour Courts. He used the occasion to charge once again the Congress Ministry with betraying the interests of the workers. He stated that the last Congress Ministry had addressed a letter to the Textile Labour Inquiry Committee that it intended to bring forward Social Insurance Legislation and that the Committee should bear this fact in mind before making its recommendations. Because of this, he said, the Committee recommended a lower wage increase, which had resulted in a loss of Rs. 50 lakhs to the workers. Replying to this charge, Mr. Nanda stated that the Congress Government had implemented the interim recommendations of the Textile Inquiry Committee, that the letter referred to by Mr. S. A. Dange was written in good faith, that it was the intention of Government to implement the recommendations of the Committee in this behalf. But by the time its report was out, the Congress was out of office.

As far as the present amendment was concerned the Labour Courts dealing with disputes of individual workers or undertakings were hardly the proper agency through which effective schemes of Social Insurance could be introduced. The Congress Government would, however, try to implement the promises in this behalf made in its statement of policy.

THIRD READING

The remaining amendments to the bill were disposed of today in about an hour and a quarter and the House proceeded to consider the third reading.

Mr. A. H. Mirza said he had received the bill with mixed feelings. It had its merits but it had also its disadvantages. After listening to some of the features, which he considered good and bad he ended by saying that everything depended on how it was worked. The Registrar could do a great deal of good or harm. He, however, welcomed the assurance given by the Labour Minister that he would carefully watch the working of the Bill and come forward with proposals for suitable changes, when necessary.

SAKLATWALA'S COMPLAINT

Sir Sohrab Saklatwala, in opposing the third reading of the bill, repeated the complaint that it was rushed through the House and no time was given to all the interests concerned. While bitterly complaining that it did not hold the scales even between the employer and the employee, as it had been claimed, but that it had weighted the scales very much against the employers, Sir Sohrab gave an assurance on behalf of the Bombay Millowners that, without prejudice to the subjects to be discussed at the forthcoming Conference of Labour Ministers at Delhi, they would give their co-operation and when they found concrete evidence that it went against their interests very much while it did not do much good to the workers, they would ask for a revision.

Supporting Sir Sohrab Saklatwala Mr. C. B. Cocakine, who has constituted himself the fistfist of the house said that originally the bill contained more clauses than the number of miles between Poona and Bombay and possibly more sub-clauses than the number of miles between Poona and Delhi. Since then it had been modified by such a large number of amendments, amendments to amendments and even amendments to amendments to amendments that it was quite impossible for the average member of this House to acquire a thorough grasp of all its implications until it had been reprinted in its latest form. Nevertheless the Hon'ble Minister was determined to pack this confusing conglomeration of clauses, sub-clauses and amendments in his PREPARATIONS FOR THE A. I. C. C. SESSION AT MEERUT. A fountain constructed in the centre of the Exhibition area at the crossings of many roads. Mr. Ram Swarup Sharma, Secretary Construction Pandal is seen standing in the picture watching the constructions.

DANGE'S CHARGE AGAINST CONGRESS

Mr. S. A. Dange opposing the third reading of the bill, while thanking the minister for introducing some of his minor amendments, claimed that fundamentally when it came to a question of altering the relations of the working class and the millowners, the amendments had the effect of prejudicing the cause of the workers. He argued that the bill was an attempt to impose the Gandhian philosophy of trusteeship on the working class. There was no doubt the Mahatma was inspired by the best of motives and the greatest record of self-sacrifice. But his philosophy unfortunately led to a surrender of the working class to the predatory bandits of this country known as the capitalist employers. The capitalist class was using the Congress in order to get legislation in its own favour and it was a matter of regret that whatever their intentions may be, the Congress was succumbing to the capitalists. The only agency which could bring about a Socialist order was the working class and the peasantry. But instead of promoting the organised strength of the workers, the Congress was suppressing the working class in the name of holding the scales even between the workers and the owners.

One of the clauses cited for this was the development of industry and promotion of peaceful production. But for a better standard of living, but peace in industry required certain preconditions, which were lacking. The large mass of workers in industries were too poor to provide a good market for the goods. Meanwhile, the landowners, who produced not for the community but for Black Market, Nationalisation of key industries and limiting dividends and profits should have been first on the priority list. Instead, an attempt was being made to correct the forces of the State to betterment of Trade Unionism and build up a docile class of workers who could follow the Congress lead.

MORTGAGED HIS BRAIN TO RUSSIA

Mr. Khandubhai Desai in the course of a brief reply regretted that Mr. S. A. Dange had mortgaged his brain to Russia. Striking a personal note, he revealed that they were classmates for four years and he was sure that if Mr. Dange had not gone to Red 25 years ago, he would have rendered immense service to the Indian working class.

Continuing Mr. Desai pointed out that while Sir Sohrab was to persecute industrial feudalism, Mr. Dange wanted dictatorship. The Bill sought to put the relations between employers and employees on a democratic footing. And, therefore, both the parties were opposed to it. The Bill was designed to liberate the working class both from economic and political domination.

He referred to the phrase, "right to strike" which had been flaunted before the House. What was this right, he asked. Was it the right to suffering and starvation? In his view the right to strike was but a liability and if the Bill limited that liability, he was certainly happy.

As far as the employers were concerned, he said, they regarded it as an encroachment on their rights. He wanted to tell them that they had no rights, except as managers of industry. The rights really belonged to the community and their continued exercise of their assumed rights would not be tolerated any longer.

NANDA HAPPY

Mr. Guzarilal Nanda was a nappy man as he rose to reply to the debate. Ever since he assumed office as Labour Minister, this piece of legislation was on his hands. Particularly during the last few weeks he had worked at it sleeplessly. And although there had been opposition, it was all over now and everybody had promised to work it. Therefore he could speak without rancour or acrimony.

Apart from replying to the detailed criticisms, he said that the Bill conferred on workers invaluable rights nowhere in the world. It was the previous struggles of the workers and the free exercise of their right to strike and collective bargaining had led them nowhere. Their strikes had failed, their wages had been cut, their organisation had been shattered. But now the employers could make no adverse change. The employers got an opportunity to take their demands to Conciliation and meanwhile workers were not able to secure for themselves what was due to them even under the social order as it existed that this bill was brought forward to help them. It

Plea To Bhabha For Freer Export Of Cotton

BOMBAY, Oct. 10 (A.P.A.): Mr. C. H. Bhabha, Commerce Member of the Government of India, was today requested by the Indian Exporters' Association to take steps to permit freer export of Indian cotton.

Mr. Bhabha, who arrived here last evening on his first visit to his home city after taking up office, attended a meeting of the

Mr. C. H. Bhabha is back in Bombay for a brief stay. Association, where its Vice-President, Mr. V. H. Hazarat, read an address.

The Commerce Member, who was reported to have promised careful consideration of the suggestions made, also heard a request that tea should be allowed to be exported freely through normal trade channels, "inasmuch as the medium of the British Food Minister."

They were as strong and as well as organised as the workers of England for instance, he would not have thought of such a bill.

It was as much the intention of the Congress Ministry as that of Mr. Dange to change the present system of export, but he would not give the workers such improvement and amelioration as was possible.

As for the theoretical discussions of Mr. Dange, he said that Gandhiji's basic teaching was to have a simple social order in which there were no millowners and no exploitation. If, however, that were not possible, he had not said that the employers should be given unbridled freedom to exploit the workers. He was the way of law, to peacefully take out of the owners to give it to the workers. The only other method was seizure of power by brute force. The implication of that method was no law, no institution, no Assembly, no side, if it failed, it would lead to Nazism and war. It was because that method was fraught with the gravest risks and offered few chances of success, that Gandhiji and the Congress had adopted the methods of peace.

In conclusion Mr. Nanda expressed satisfaction at the fact that Mr. Dange had said he would try to take every advantage of the legislation in so far as it helped the workers. If he found the bill hampered him in any way he would be willing to correct it. He hoped he would have Mr. Dange's help in that. He was agreeable to anything which he was convinced was in the interests of the workers.

AGRICULTURISTS DEBT

No sooner had the Industrial Relations Bill been passed, when Mr. V. L. Mehta, Finance Minister, stood up ready to move the bill to amend the Agriculturists' Debt Relief Act. The Speaker, he said his idea was to get the first reading passed have the Bill referred to a Select Committee and take up the second reading at the next session.

While a number of members, including Mr. Dange stated that it was an urgent piece of legislation and it would be good to make a start on it, others agreed with Mr. A. A. Khan, Deputy Leader of the Muslim League Party, that they had their fill of legislation for one session. And although it was pointed out that three lakhs of cases involving claims to the extent of fifteen crores of rupees, were pending before Debt Adjustment Boards awaiting the legislation, Mr. V. L. Mehta said that if it was the wish of the House not to proceed with it, he was agreeable to its being held over.

Jawahar Inaugurates Health Ministers' Conference

Plea For Co-operation Of All Provinces And Centre For Solution Of Basic And Non-Controversial Problem

NEW DELHI, Oct. 10 (APD): Health is a basic problem which forms the foundation of a Nation's edifice and if the foundation is weak, the building is likely to collapse. This was stressed by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Vice-President of the Interim Government, inaugurating the Health Ministers' Conference here today.

Pandit Nehru said that various questions faced the country, some of which were controversial. But others were basic problems, health being one of them. Political and other matters might brook some delay, but problems of Health, which if not given proper attention in time, could not be rectified. Hitherto, not much attention has been paid by the State to problems of health. Education, for instance, of funds was the explanation.

So far, attention had been paid more to the towns, whereas towns lived in the villages. The producer at the country level should be physically strong and expenditure on him should not be grudging. It is necessary to concentrate the preventive health measures rather than on huge cost for hospitals.

Proceeding, Pandit Nehru said that there was no intention on the part of the Centre to compel the provinces to adopt a particular policy. They were free to chalk out their own measures but in matters like Health, co-operation of all the provinces and the Centre was essential, in fact, it was really a matter of inter-national co-operation for with modern transport, there was always a danger of disease spreading from one part of the world to another. Inside the country itself, if one part had a bad state, it affected the other parts as well.

Pandit Nehru hoped that the mutual discussions which the Health Ministers were going to have on Health problems would prove beneficial to the country.

SHAFAT ON HEALTH DEVELOPMENT PLANS

NEW DELHI, Oct. 10 (APD): Sir Shafat Ahmed Khan, Health Member, Interim Government gave assurance today that while detailed plans for the health development are to be made and carried out by Provincial Governments, "Interim Government will do all in their power to assist health development in India."

Sir Shafat was addressing the Health Ministers' Conference which opened in New Delhi this morning. Central Government, he said, proposed to implement Shere Committee's recommendations by setting up a Committee to advise Government regarding the establishment of All-India Institute for training and research, providing facilities at Calcutta for licentiate from all parts of India to take their M.B.B.S. degree and sending selected students abroad for training. A nursing college had been opened which would provide course for university degree in Nursing, Malabar. Legislation for regulation of pharmacy and nursing professions would be undertaken. Sir Shafat announced that Government proposed to develop Health Advice and Information services.

A Bureau was being set up to collect information regarding the equipment of medical institutions and the question of collecting population and

He said that if the UNO does not accept the French proposal Siam may offer a counter-proposal which may be acceptable to France.

Soviet Attack On Br. Policy In Mid-East

LONDON, Oct. 10 (A.P.A.): "The latest breakdown in the Anglo-Egyptian talks has once more laid bare before the whole world, the serious difficulties encountered by traditional British policy in the Middle East." This comment in an article by the editorial writer Rasky was published in the "Truth" trade union newspaper.

"During more than six months," the "Truth" said, "the British Government had been trying with the help of Egyptian reactionary circles to find a favourable formula for preserving the regime of occupation of the Suez Canal, which has fatally existed for over 64 years."

The paper said the "evacuation of Egypt has not taken place and there is no basis for speaking of a complete reversal of British policy in Egypt." The position adopted by the Egyptian delegate to the Security Council, who refused to support the Soviet proposal for obtaining information on Allied troops on the territory of the enemy countries, "provided special dissatisfaction" in the Egyptian community, the Soviet commentator asserted.

Off My Chest

Now that an Indian National Government, even though it be inferior in power, I would like to see a 'ban' on me officially removed.

It is a 'ban' which has prevented me from broadcasting from any station of All-India Radio for nearly four years. I have never seen officially informed of this 'ban' I was merely rubbed off the air.

The reason for my asking for its removal of the 'ban' is not because I have any particular urge to broadcast from All-India Radio, but because a principle is involved, which arises from the circumstances which led to the 'ban'.

On my return from Chungking in 1942, I published a book called "CHUNGKING DIARY". This book contained much which proved to be embarrassing to the Kuomintang Government of Chung-Kai-Shek. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who was then in command of the Chinese Government, was more concerned with fighting the Japanese than with the war against Japan. I had attacked Chiang Kai-shek's Commander-in-Chief, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who would not let Allied medical supplies reach the Chinese Red Army, for whom they were intended. I had indicated that part of the book was a leading Chinese was being diverted to political purposes instead of being used against the enemy. Mr. Henry Wallace's subsequent visit to China confirmed my deductions.

This book also contained an interview with Mr. Han Li Wu, who according to reliable information (as furnished by me) was called by the Government and ticked off for what he had said to me. Mr. Han Li Wu denied having said anything to me and said he would contradict it, which he never did.

However, the criticisms in the book caused almost a diplomatic incident. The Chinese Government protested to the British Embassy in Chungking, who forwarded the protest to the External Affairs Department of the Government of India, who in turn fully referred the matter to the Department of Information and Broadcasting, who had sponsored my trip to China against the wish of the External Affairs Department.

The Department of Information and Broadcasting, much to my credit, said that I was an individual journalist on the staff of a leading Indian national paper and that it was in that capacity I was allowed to go to China. The Chinese Government were not satisfied with that reply. They pointed out that the Government of India was giving my utterances their benediction by allowing me to speak over All-India Radio, to appease the Chinese. I was, therefore, taken off the air.

These facts can be verified from files of the Department concerned. The point now is that a foreign government's interference, direct or indirect, in the freedom of expression in my own country. It is the duty of an Indian National Government to see that the rights of its citizens are not tampered with by foreign governments, however friendly they may be towards them. Freedom of speech and expression is a thing which we have fought for in this country and which we regard as our beloved right. Members of the National Government, now in New Delhi, have fought for that freedom.

I now ask for my rights and I would like to know how soon I will get them. There is also a 'ban' on at least one of my books, "I GO WEST". The 'ban' is not on copies of the book published in the country, for that comes within the sphere of the Provincial Government. The 'ban' is on the import of copies of this book and this ban is contained in a confidential directive to Collectors of Customs in all the major ports. The 'ban' is mischievous and maliciously imposed must either be justified by the Government of India, or removed.

MOVE TO 'PROSECUTE' PREMIER FAILS

BOMBAY, Thursday. The Chief Presidency Magistrate this morning rejected a petition from Mr. Mahomed Sadik Shaik Ahmad, Editor, "Muslim Times", Bombay, asking that proceedings under Sec. 144 Cr. P.C. be instituted against the Prime Minister, Mr. B. G. Kher.

In a long, statement the complainant contended that the respondent "who is the head of an exclusively Hindu Government established in the Bombay Province by brute majority" did not favour the ending of communal bitterness "or help in the speedy restoration of public peace".

He further charged that the Prime Minister, "although aware of the Press convention", had violated it deliberately and maliciously.

Mr. B. G. Kher's statement on October 9 was likely to promote feelings of hatred between different communities, he alleged.

The Magistrate was asked to direct the Prime Minister "to abstain for a period of two months from publishing any news or statements of men's relating to the riots calculated to excite hatred."

Rejecting the plea His Worship contended that the charges were groundless and that the Prime Minister had done or said nothing to warrant any scrutiny into his statement.

Mr. Mahomed Sadik Shaik Ahmad brought forward a similar complaint against Sir Francis Low, editor and Mr. R. W. Pearce, Printer and Publisher of the "Times of India" Bombay, praying for a restraint order against them. In an equally strongly worded statement the complainant alleged that the respondents published, on October 9, "an inflammatory statement of Mr. Kher" that sought to "deliberately excite public hatred."

The Magistrate admitted the application and issued notice on the respondents to appear on a week.

CALCUTTA, Oct. 10, (UPI). In view of the present situation in the City suggestions have been made not to open educational institutions on October 15. A conference of heads of institutions has been called in this connection.

THE BLUE DAHLIA

Players: Allan Ladd, Veronica Lake, William Bendix, Howard Da Silva.

Here is a suspense-laden melodrama which serves as a suitable return from war service—to the screen, of Allan Ladd.

The Blue Dahlia is the name of a hotel to which a demobilised serviceman comes back, eagerly awaiting a welcome from his wife but discovering her in the arms of another man. The unfathomable woman is, later, found murdered and the suspicion falls on the young widower and his friend. How, with the help of a woman whom the hero eventually chooses as his best girl, the crime is fixed on the real killer, forming the crux of this very interesting drama which manages to keep one on tenterhooks all the time.

Allan Ladd has lost none of his virile charm and rugged personality. As his friend, Bendix gives a fine characterisation. The girls are adequate, but the acting honours must go to Howard da Silva for his sinister portrayal of the villain of the piece.

A fine film for lovers of mystery combined with romance.

Yugoslavia Paus Indemnity

About 31,000 Dollars To Be Paid To Family Of Each Dead

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (Reuters). The United States Government has accepted the payment of 150,000 dollars from Yugoslavia as an indemnity for the lives of five United States airmen killed when Yugoslav fighters shot down their transport plane on August 19.

The United States Government, however, is asking the Yugoslav Government to reconsider its refusal to pay for the loss of this plane and another one forced down earlier the State Department disclosed.

Mr. Richard Patterson, the United States Ambassador in Belgrade, has delivered a note to the Yugoslav Government agreeing to comply with the Yugoslav request that about 31,000 dollars be paid to the family of each of the dead United States airmen.

A State Department announcement said: "The note added that the United States Government could not accept the Yugoslav contention that the Yugoslav Government has no responsibility for the loss of the unarmed transport shot down on August 9 and 19. These planes did not fly over Yugoslavia illegally but for reasons beyond their control resulting from adverse weather conditions."

It was learned at the State Department that the Yugoslav note, dated September 20, offering the payment said: "The decision of the Government is inspired by human feelings notwithstanding its firm attitude to reject most energetically any responsibility for the regrettable accident."

ABOLISH ZAMINDARI WITHOUT COMPENSATION

WARDHA, Oct. 9, (A.P.I.). Swami Sahajanand, the Kisan Leader inaugurating the C. P. Berar Hind Kisan Conference here, declared that as "Zamindari" or "Malguzari" system had made no contribution towards the betterment of peasants, the landlords could not claim compensation from the Congress Government which wanted to liquidate "Zamindari" to implement its election pledge.

Peasants and workers should organise and support the Nehru Government, he added.

Swami Sahajanand said he stood for peasants and workers being organised separately which was essential to win their "Raj". He thought that an upsurge of peasants and workers was inevitable. If their economic problems were not solved.

The Conference adopted resolutions demanding immediate abolition of "Malguzari" and "Zamindari" system and requesting Government to undertake schemes of village and agricultural improvements.

THE HOUSE ON 92ND STREET

Players: William Eythe, Signe Hasso, Lloyd Nolan.

Director: Henry Hathaway.

Henry Hathaway can always be expected to pack a film with thrilling sequences. In the present picture we get a glimpse into the methods of the American Federal Bureau of Investigation in dealing with the activities of spies—Nazi espionage agents in this case.

A German-trained youth, fresh from Hamburg, lends his services to the F.B.I. in preventing Nazi agents from discovering the formula, known as "Process 97", of the atomic bomb.

Eythe gives a capable performance as the youth who resists Nazi influence despite being trained in Germany. As a Nazi spy Signe Hasso is suitably ruthless, while Lloyd Nolan, as a police chief, is effectively calm and collected.

Fine acting and equally good presentation, lift this topical picture out

THE HURRICANE

Players: Jon Hall, Dorothy Lamour.

A picturesque island, 600 miles from Tahiti serves as a lovely background for this Samuel Goldwyn film more notable for its scenes of nature and its portrayal of the simple lives of villagers, than for its acting which is "natural" in the language of the "blurb".

A prisoner, who had been sentenced for killing a man for an insult offered him, escapes from confinement and becomes the saviour of a host of villagers during a hurricane such as, one supposes, are only too frequent in those dreamy isles.

This picture will appeal to those who like spectacle of the open air, rugged variety.

of the usual rut. It makes fine entertainment for those who enjoy suspense mixed with action and a story that does not sound a false note as so many film plots do.

ECHO OF TANAKA MEMORANDUM

Revelation At Far East Tribunal
By Soviet Prosecution

TOKYO, Oct. 9, (Reuters). Japan's blue print for world conquest, the "Tanaka Memorandum" attributed to Baron Tanaka Japanese Premier from 1927 until his death in 1929, "actually existed", according to an affidavit from ex-Cossack leader Semenov submitted to the International Military Tribunal for the Far East by the Soviet prosecution today.

Semenov—who was hanged in Russia on August 31 of this year for treason and co-operation with Japan in planning war against Russia—said that he had been told this by Baron Tanaka himself.

The Tanaka Memorandum is said to have laid down that if China was to be conquered, Manchuria and Mongolia must first be seized, and that all China must first be taken if the world was to be conquered.

The submission of Semenov's six-page affidavit dated April 11, 1946, in which the Cossack leader told of his long relationship with the Japanese, opened the Soviet case yesterday.

Semenov, who was captured by the Soviets after the war in Manchuria, revealed that anti-Soviet Russians in Manchuria organised a military force for attack on the Soviet Union and was the centre of anti-Soviet propaganda.

He was told by the Japanese military chief at Dairen that this Russian attack on the Soviet Union was to begin when Moscow fell.

Semenov said that the Japanese furnished him with money, arms and ammunition when he agreed to head the puppet Siberian Government. His affidavit said that Gen. Kuniaki Kolsko, who succeeded to Tojo in 1944 as Japan's war-time Premier, was leader of the Japanese belief in their racial superiority.

Other documents submitted by the Soviet prosecution were designed to prove from speeches and official plans that Japan had for a decade envisaged an attack on Russia.

In the summer of 1941, the Japanese Army in Manchuria on the Soviet border was greatly strengthened, according to this evidence.

Plague In Bijapur

BIJAPUR, Oct. 9 (A.P.I.). The Plague, which broke out in Bijapur town on September 18, has, during the week ended October 2, claimed 46 deaths and 12 seizures. The total of deaths and attacks so far is 31 and 12 respectively.

Interlude In Empire Trade Talks

Sir Stafford Cripps, the President of the Board of Trade, opened the Empire Trade Talks at the Carlton Hotel, London. About 60 delegates were present, representing Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Eire, Newfoundland and Southern Rhodesia. It is expected that the main subject of discussion will be Empire preference and the effect of its possible abolition or modification on various parts of the British Commonwealth. MARIE WALEWSKA (M.G.M.)

Players: Garbo, Charles Boyer, Allan Marshall, Dame May Whitty.

I saw this film years ago when it was first released. As many scenes from it still linger in my memory, I suppose I may say that it is the sort of photoplay that leaves an impression on the mind; not so much because of the story, which is gross exaggeration or rather fictionalisation of historical facts, but because of the splendid acting of its fine cast.

Napoleon, on a visit to Poland, falls in love with a married woman, countess Walewska. She becomes his mistress, faces ostracism and bears his son. When he is exiled, she visits him at Elba—one of the few persons who has remained faithful to him.

Charles Boyer, French himself, made a believable Napoleon. Garbo, great actress that she was (as I have to use the past tense!) turned a somewhat sordid role into a tender part with her sensitive portrayal. As Napoleon's mother, Dame May Whitty was her splendid, whimsical arrogant self!

By all means see this re-issue if only to realise what a great actress the screen has lost in Garbo—one of the foremost tragediennes of our time whom the forced laughter and mirth of "Ninotchka" and another equally futile comedy whose name escapes me, seem to have sent into permanent retirement.

Bengal Faces Serious Food Shortage

Govt. And Public Should Help
As Much As Possible

CALCUTTA, Oct. 9 (A.P.I.). The price of rice varies between Rs. 21 and Rs. 30 per maund in certain parts of Bihar and Bengal including Mymensingh, Jalpaiguri, Tipperah, Noakhali, Dacca, Panna and Rangpur according to reports received by the Bengal Provincial Congress Committee.

Mr. Surendra Mohan Ghosh, President, B.P.C.C., in a statement said that although communal situation in the province has overshadowed all other questions a serious problem has arisen during this time on the food front.

Mr. Ghosh suggests that if the Supply Department of the Government have any store for emergency, now is the time to release them and if the people anywhere have any surplus with them, now is the time for them to share it with the less fortunate. The Government owe it to them and the public to explain immediately the food situation in the province in which there should be no complacency he adds.

LICENCES FOR PRIVATE MOTOR TRANSPORT COS.

NEW DELHI, Oct. 9, (A.P.I.). The Committee of the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce and Industry have addressed the various provincial Governments suggesting that they should issue licences to private motor transport companies on a more liberal scale and thus, remove the keenly felt want of better transport facilities in the country.
